COUNSELING PROGRAM

Specializations in Clinical Mental Health Counseling and School Counseling

The Master of Arts in Counseling program is a non-thesis program that prepares individuals to provide a variety of professional counseling services to diverse client populations in a wide range of work settings. The mission of the program is to prepare exemplary counselors who are committed to ethical practice in diverse global contexts. The program has a strong focus on leadership and advocacy in relationship to human development issues and the provision of quality services and programs for all people. The Clinical Mental Health Counseling (CMHC) specialization emphasizes evidence-based practice as the foundation for delivering culturally responsive interventions for clients in a variety of clinical mental health settings. The School Counseling (SC) specialization emphasizes leadership, program planning and evaluation, applied research and evidence-based interventions. The Counseling Program’s specific learning outcomes are aligned with the School of Leadership and Education Sciences’ overarching ACE themes of (A) academic excellence, (C) critical reflection and inquiry, identification with a community of practice and a (E) commitment to service, ethical practice and knowledge and skills in serving diverse populations.

The School Counseling and Clinical Mental Health Counseling specializations are accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP).

The Counseling Program utilizes benchmark assessments to determine whether candidates meet the standards required to enter the program, continue in the program and complete the program. A Clinical Instruction Benchmark Assessment (CIBA) is utilized to provide students (also referred to as candidates) with personal and professional development feedback, to assess progress in the program and to determine the student’s readiness for the transition to the practicum and fieldwork/internship portions of clinical instruction. The CIBA is completed prior to approval to register for the Counseling Practicum.

The Counseling Program has a chapter of Chi Sigma Iota — the International Academic and Professional Honor Society for counseling — which students are eligible to join after completing at least nine units of graduate courses with a minimum of a 3.5 GPA.

School districts, community colleges and universities, career centers, community agencies, government and business organizations and private and public clinical settings in San Diego, all over the country and around the world, employ graduates of the Counseling Program. In addition, many of our graduates have gone on to doctoral programs in counseling psychology, counselor education, educational leadership, educational psychology and related fields.

The Clinical Mental Health specialization requires 60 units. Upon graduation students are eligible to become Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor Interns (LPCC Interns as defined by the California Board of Behavioral Sciences). In California, LPCC Interns are required to complete 3000 post-graduate supervised practice hours and pass the licensing exam to become Licensed Professional Clinical Counselors (LPCC). The program meets licensure eligibility requirements in most other states as well but students are encouraged to check specific requirements for licensure in the state in which they intend to become licensed.

The School Counseling specialization offers two concentrations: (1) a 48 unit program where students earn a PPS credential upon graduation; and (2) a 60 unit program where students earn the PPS credential and take an additional year of coursework in clinical mental health counseling to be eligible for licensure as a Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor Intern. Students who opt to pursue the 60-unit PPS credential with LPCC eligibility should have an interest in working with children and adolescents with special emotional and behavioral needs in school settings.

COUN 565 | CRISIS & TRAUMA PREVENTION AND INTERVENTION IN INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL COUNSELING
Units: 3 | Repeatability: No
It is inevitable that school crises will occur. In international schools, school counselors are the first responders or members of the school’s crisis team. The purpose of this course is to prepare students for dealing with crisis situations they will encounter as an International School Counselor. Students will spend time reflecting on how people deal with crises, exploring their own crisis experiences, and begin to develop skills for crisis intervention. Students will also examine some of the relevant research on crises, resolution, and resilience for International Populations. However, the major focus throughout the course will be on learning the practical skills of helping people in crisis and constructing prevention programs for children and adolescents that include: Grief and Bereavement, Bullying, Violence Prevention, Cultural Adjustment and Transition, Suicide and Suicidal Ideation, and Family Conflict and Violence.

COUN 566 | INTERNATIONAL CAREER AND COLLEGE READINESS
Units: 3 | Repeatability: No
Virtually every international school, through the school’s mission, holds the promise of a university education for every student. Parents often select an international school over other systems based on their perception that they will be providing their children with a significantly increased opportunity to both have access to and succeed in highly competitive universities worldwide. Through a series of case studies, collaborative learning strategies, and interactive simulations, participants will: • Examine the career development process and interventions for children, and adolescents within a culture-centered perspective. • Study of theorists, vocational assessment process, and occupational and psychological information systems. • Gain valuable insight into the inner-workings of university admission offices, with a focus on the multiple factors impacting each decision to admit or deny a student • Understand the offerings and requirements of university systems in the US, Canada, Australia and the UK • Develop the tools needed to help families and students form an effective university application list • Fully understand the factors that make for a successful teacher and counselor recommendation • Gain a thorough understanding of the common application, with a particular emphasis on writing effective personal statements for admission to highly competitive universities. • Increase knowledge of the financial aid and scholarship process in the United States.

COUN 567 | APPLIED THEORIES AND TECHNIQUES IN INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL COUNSELING
Units: 1 | Repeatability: No
International schools are filled with kids and adults experiencing change of all types; and change comes with individual responses and needs. School counseling involves the counselor working with students, families and teachers one to one to obtain positive solutions for the individual. With limited time and resources available, international school counselors need special skills and approaches to intervention that allow them to utilize trusting relationships to help students find solutions to their problems. The course will bring together best practices from various school-based interventions and draw up research from positive psychology and related counseling fields to help emerging counselors become more effective in their one-to-one work. Utilizing a variety of instructional techniques including (e.g. Fishbowl techniques; Pair sharing practice and role-play; Triad sharing and observations; Video demonstrations by masterful counselors; Case study debriefing; Readings and reflections; and Small group and class discussions) participants will learn: • How and when to use the six key questions of Solution Focused Counseling • How to identify and utilize a student’s strengths in navigating troubling times • How to utilize the role of empathy and relationships in a counseling setting • How to reframe problems in a way that provides client with more options • When to refer a student and family for outside counseling • The role of the counselor in student support meetings (response to intervention).
